Previous experience and/or understanding of data gathering and evidence based practice in guidance services in schools is highly desirable.

Themes and goals of the event:

The aim of the seminars is to develop a transnational resource which will facilitate the development of evidence based guidance practice and the use of ICT in supporting school guidance quality assured practices. The development of the transnational resource will be informed by good practice.

During the seminar you will have the opportunity to learn from the experiences of others and to share your own experiences and practices in relation to evidence based practice in guidance services in schools. The seminar will provide opportunities for group discussion, interaction and reflection.

It is expected that the same participants will attend the two seminars.
